Born 1965.

Summary

Since 1997, I have worked in IT as a consultant, server administrator, technician and supporter. From 2013 until the present, I have been working as an IT Professional at University of Copenhagen, primarily within end user support and administration on Windows, Mac and Linux. Before this, I worked 5 years for a consultancy house in Holte, Denmark, primarily in support, services and administration for large and medium-sized private companies and government organisations. The biggest focus was on the Microsoft platform, but I also have extensive experience in Linux and Mac.

As for personal qualities, I am service minded, presentable, polite and able to communicate with users at all levels. I am known for being able to keep my cool and be positive, even when things get hot.

In my spare time, I am, among many other things, active in Home Guard Company North Sealand.
